

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A bandage cover is a vest-type body sock which prevents an animal from disturbing a gauze bandage or wound, aggravating post surgery wounds. The bandage cover fits over the head, neck, and front trunk of the animal and openings provided for the head, front legs, and rear trunk past the chest. The bandage cover is 10 preferably made of spandex polyester fabric so as to fit snugly around the body of the animal. The bandage cover has a single seam running down the neck, chest and trunk sections of the bandage. Hems surround the openings. An elastic band is preferably sewn into a bunched portion of the rolled hem of the 15 rear opening of the vest extending downward, about three-quarters around of the trunk and belly of the animal preventing it from pulling the vest forward. A reversible version covers a wound from removal of a front leg.